SWANSON AND ELLYSON SPEAK

Candidates Open Their Campaign in Harrisonburg.

BARKSDALE, LAW ENDORSED

Mr. Ellyson Will Get a Strong Support in Rockingham.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
HARRISONBURG, VA., March 20.--Representative Swanson opened his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nominabefore the people of Rockingham county to-day in an address at the court house. Mr. Swanson's address was replete with humor and anecdote, but it was none the less an able presentation of his candidacy for the nomination.

He was introduced by George N. Con rad, Commonwealth's attorney for Rock ingham county, who in his introduction said that he was about to introduce the said that he was about to introduce the man who in the hour of defeat at the Norfolk Convention had towered as the giant of the occasion when he pledged his best support to the nominees of the convention, and that it was this man whom the Democrats of Rockingham would vote for, for Governor. This remark was greeted with great applause by the large and representative audience of Democrats who had gathered to hear Mr. Swanson.

In his address, Mr. Swanson followed closely the lines of thought contained in his letter of acceptance. He pledged himself to everything that was for the best interests of the public schools; declared for convict labor on public roads and for Federal ald in road improvement, which for convict labor on public roads and for Federal aid in road improvement, which he predicted is coming as sure as fate. He discussed ways and means for a general advancement of the business interests of the State.

Referring to the Barksdale pure election law, he said that it had been enacted to prevent such corruption as we are now witnessing in Delaware and other States. He did not refer to the other candidates except to express the conviction that they were honorable men, and the hope that they would join hands with him in seeing that the letter and spirit of that law were carried out.

Mr. Swanson's address was received with enhusiasm, and he received a rousing reception at its close. /To-night he addressed the commercial travelers, who had a meeting here. He came here Saturday night and since then has met many county folk who brought him assurances that the county would give him a handsome majority in the forthcoming primary. He and his friends here are immensely pleased with the outlook. Hon, J. Taylor Ellyson, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, followed Mr. Swanson, and spoke briefly on his candidacy for the nomination. Mr. Ellyson was enthusiastically received, and it is conceded that he will have strong support in Rock

Need a Free Pew Church

Need a Free Pew Church.

An unusually large congregation was present at the Frist Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and after the sermon an enthusiastic congregational meeting was held to express the sentiment as to continuing the present plan of rented pews.

For some months the matter has been considered by the officers, and yesteriany it was referred to the congregation for its expression of opinion. The recommendation of the officers was unanimously approved and the officers declared the church a free-pew church, to take effect at the beginning of the ecclesiastical year, April 1st. The First Church is city, having been organized ninety-three years ago. The present pastor, Rev. F. T. McFaden, D. D., who came in December, 1996, fins won already the esteem and confidence of its members and the church is loyally responding to his work.
